Introduction

The code of practice (DBS code of practice - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)) published under section 122 of the Police Act 1997 advises that it is a requirement that all registered bodies must treat DBS applicants who have a criminal record fairly and not discriminate automatically because of a conviction or other information revealed.

The code also obliges registered bodies to have a written policy on the recruitment of ex-offenders; a copy of which can be given to DBS applicants at the outset of the recruitment process.

Further information about conviction information

On the 29 May 2013, legislation came into force that allows certain old and minor cautions and convictions to no longer be subject to disclosure.

- In addition, employers will no longer be able to take an individual's old and minor cautions and convictions into account when making decisions
- All cautions and convictions for specified serious violent and sexual offences, and other specified offences of relevance for posts concerned with safeguarding children and vulnerable adults, will remain subject to disclosure. In addition, all convictions resulting in a custodial sentence, whether or not suspended, will remain subject to disclosure, as will all convictions where an individual has more than one conviction recorded
- Applicants can view the guidance and criteria which explains the filtering of old and minor cautions and convictions (DBS filtering guide - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)) which are now 'protected' so not subject to disclosure.

Recruitment of Ex-offenders

- As an organisation assessing applicants' suitability for positions which are included in the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) Order using criminal record checks processed through the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS), Queensbridge School complies fully with the code of practice (DBS code of practice - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)) and undertakes to treat all applicants for positions fairly
- Queensbridge School undertakes not to discriminate unfairly against any subject of a criminal record check on the basis of a conviction or other information revealed
- Queensbridge School can only ask an individual to provide details of conviction and cautions that Queensbridge School are legally entitled to know about. Where a DBS certificate at either standard or enhanced level can legally be requested (where the position is one that is included in the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) Order 1975 as amended, and where appropriate Police Act Regulations as amended)
- Queensbridge School can only ask an individual about convictions and cautions that are not protected
- Queensbridge School is committed to the fair treatment of its staff, potential staff or users of its services, regardless of race, gender, religion, sexual orientation, responsibilities for dependants, age, physical/mental disability or offending background
- Queensbridge School has a written policy on the recruitment of ex-offenders, which is made available to all DBS applicants at the start of the recruitment process
- Queensbridge School actively promotes equality of opportunity for all with the right mix of talent, skills and potential and welcome applications from a wide range of candidates, including those with criminal records
- Queensbridge School select all candidates for interview based on their skills, qualifications and experience
- An application for a criminal record check is only submitted to DBS for successful applicants. All application forms, job adverts and recruitment briefs will contain a statement that an application for an enhanced DBS certificate will be submitted in the event of the individual being offered the position
- Queensbridge School ensures that all those in Queensbridge School who are involved in the recruitment process have been suitably trained to identify and assess the relevance and circumstances of offences
- Queensbridge School also ensures that they have received appropriate guidance and training in the relevant legislation relating to the employment of ex-offenders, e.g. the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974
- At interview, or in a separate discussion, Queensbridge School ensures that an open and measured discussion takes place on the subject of any offences or other matter that might be relevant to the position. Failure to reveal information that is directly relevant to the position sought could lead to withdrawal of an offer of employment
- Queensbridge School makes every subject of a criminal record check submitted to DBS aware of the existence of the code of practice (DBS code of practice - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)) and makes a copy available on request
- Queensbridge School undertakes to discuss any matter revealed on a DBS certificate with the individual seeking the position before withdrawing a conditional offer of employment.
